

THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS
FOR THE THIRD CIRCUIT

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

Crim. No. : 99-033-2-JJF

Civ. No. : 03-029-JJF

V.

LEROY COLEY,
Petitioner/Appellant

PETITIONER'S NOTICE OF A COA FOR A 60(b)

FACTUAL BACKGROUND

The petitioner and four other individuals were charged in a multiple count indictment for various drug offenses. Two of the five defendants plead guilty and testified as government witnesses at the petitioner's trial. After a ten day trial, the petitioner was convicted of count v (five) of the indictment, which charged petitioner with Possession with the intent to distribute cocaine base, as known as 'crack', in violation of 21 U.S.C 841 (a)(1)(b)(1)(A), and acquitted of conspiracy. Petitioner was sentenced by the Honorable Roderick R. McKelvie to 121month term of imprisonment in addition to five years of supervised release.

The petitioner appealed his conviction and sentence to the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. The court affirmed the conviction stating, that the drug quantity would stand under the preponderance of the evidence standard' pre-Blakely.

However, the U.S. Supreme Court vacated the term of supervised release imposed by the court and remanded the matter for re-sentencing pursuant to Appendi and § 841(b)(1)(C).

The Honorable Roderick R. McKelvie gave the the petitioner the minimum participant role in the offense and the low end of the guideline range. The judge expressed how he thought that the punishment was harsh at the sentencing hearing, although pre-Booker, he could not depart pursuant to the mandatory nature of the guidelines, which have now been found 'unconstitutional'.

The petitioner's § 225⁴5 was denied on February 1, 2004. Petitioner didn't recieve his response until July, 2005. The Honorable Judge Farnan had already denied petitioner's COA without allowing the petitioner a chance to apply for a COA. At this time, petitioner was being held in state custody from January 2004 through January 2005, and was not aware that he could still apply for a COA. The petitioner was being held in Delaware Correctional Center, in Smyrna, Delaware. The prison had little to no State Law and no Federal Law Library material, nor was there any knowlegeable staff that understood federal law. Due to the lack of resources, Petitioner filed a Civil Lawsuit against the prison on August 2004. (Dst. W.)

REASONS FOR GRANTING MOTION

1 1.) The petitioner was denied a COA before he even filed one. A court cannot sidestep the COA process by first deciding the merits of an appeal, and then justifying its denial of COA based on its own adjudication of the actual merits, it is in essence deciding an appeal without jurisdiction. See Miller-El v. Cockrell, 537 U.S. 312, 123 S. Ct. 1029, 154 L.Ed.2d 931 (2003).

(2) The court has held only "extraordinary and special circumstances, justify relief." Page v. Schweiker, 786 F.2d 150,158 (3rd Cir. (1986). The court has also said

The court also said, "unless a change calls into serious question the correctness of the court's judgement", Agostini v. Felton, 521 U.S. 203, 239 (1997).

Petitioner would argue the court misapplying Apprendi v. New Jersey, calls into serious question, the correctness of the court's judgement. The courts misinterpretation of Apprendi cost the petitioner undue prejudice and "undermined the integrity of the court." The court's misjudgement cost the petitioner a number of his constitutional rights; Sixth Amendment right to trial by jury, Fifth Amendment Due Process and Grand Jury Clause, and Fourteenth Amendment right to Equal Protection Clause. The petitioner would argue this being an 'extraordinary and special circumstance that justifies relief.' The mis-applying of Apprendi is misconduct on the Government's behalf. It is no longer equitable that the judgement should have prospective application. It is the court's duty to protect the integrity of presumption of innocence.

WHEREFORE, for all of the above reasons and in the interest of justice and fairness, the petitioner respectfully request that his Motion is granted.

Respectfully,

Leroy Coley
